MOCA PART IV: PPAI - SIMULATION EDUCATION COURSES

The ABA's Maintenance of Certification in Anesthesiology (MOCA) program consists of four parts. Part IV, also known as Practice Performance Assessment and Improvement (PPAI), requires MOCA candidates to complete both a case evaluation and a simulation course once during their ten-year MOCA cycle.

The American Society of Anesthesiologists (ASA) has now launched its Simulation Education Network. MOCA candidates can attend simulation courses at these endorsed centers and fulfill the Part IV requirement. For more information and a list of endorsed centers, visit the ASA's website at <https://www.asahq.org/For-Members/Education-and-Events/>
